AUTO GOES INTO YORK RIVER

Occupant of Car Escapes Uninjured and Boards Another Car and Proceeds on His Journey

The neighboring town of York was greatly stirred up this Tuesday morning by the finding of an overturned automobile which had gone off Rice's bridge into the York river. The discovery was made at daylight by a man who was crossing the bridge to go to his work and he immediately notified Deputy Sheriff Bradford S. Woodward and the selectmen of his find.

Only the wheels of the automobile and the number plate which bore the Maine registration of D-188 were visible.

The finding of the automobile gave rise to all kinds of reports and it was at first feared that the occupants of the car had been plied on the river bank underneath the car and drowned.

As soon as possible the automobile was lifted from the river bottom and proved to be a machine of the racing pattern with a seating capacity for only two persons. There was nothing in the box of the car with the exception of an old red sweater.

The authorities commenced an investigation and after telephoning to various places learned that the car was owned by a Portland man and that he had escaped uninjured and proceeded on his way to his destination in another car that had come along shortly after the accident.

The accident is supposed to have happened shortly after four o'clock this Tuesday morning, as a man who was living in a tent near the bridge states he heard a crash, followed by a splash in the water at that time but paid no particular attention to it.

The machine was evidently going at a high rate of speed as when it went off the bridge it tore four sections off the bridge railing, or about fifty feet. A later report states that the car belonged to Biddeford and had been stolen from that city and that the registration number found on the car belonged to a Kennebunk dealer, but he disclaimed all knowledge of the car when questioned.

Deputy Sheriff Jones of Biddeford arrived at York this noon and is making an investigation as to who were the occupants of the car.

The car is said to have been stolen from Biddeford by two young men who came to this city.

A car which answered the description of the one which figured in the accident was put up at the Portsmouth Motor Mart on Monday morning by two young men, evidently of French nationality. To one of the employees they said they were going to leave the car there during the day as they looked so much like hoboes they were afraid of getting arrested.

Between five and six Monday afternoon they called for the car and said they were going to Dover and thence to Portland.

That the occupants of the car were traveling at a high rate of speed when the accident happened was shown by the cut-out of the car being wide open.

BULGARIA WILL JOIN WITH THE ALLIES

(Special to The Herald)
London, Aug. 10.—A news agency dispatch from Rome says that Bulgaria will join with the Allies if Serbia will cede to her that part of Macedonia now held by the Serbians.

FUNERAL NOTICE

The funeral of James Herbert Johnson will be held at the home of his parents on the River road in Eliot on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock. Friends invited.

ITALY TO DECLARE WAR ON TURKEY

All Italian Consuls Are Preparing to Depart From Turkey According to Advices From Constantinople

(Special to The Herald)

Athens, Aug. 10.—All Italian consuls are preparing to depart from Turkey, according to reliable advices received from Constantinople. They have turned over their duties to neutral officials, chiefly American consuls. Immediately following their departure it is expected that war between Italy and Turkey will be declared. Italian troops will then join the Allies at the Dardanelles.

MAKING VIOLENT ATTACKS

Germans Are Using Large Quantities of Asphyxiat-ing Gases.

(Special to The Herald)

Paris, Aug. 10.—Using large quantities of asphyxiating gases the Germans have been making the most violent attacks against the French position in the forest of LePretre on the rim of the Woëvre district. This information was given out today by the French war office. Despite the severity of the German assaults, all were repulsed by the French artillery.

ITALIANS DISPUTE STATEMENTS

Made by Germany as to Their Losses in War Against Austria.

(Special to The Herald)

Rome, Aug. 10.—German claims that the Italians had lost 200,000 men in the war against Austria are denounced as "a ridiculous canard" by the war ministry today. Italian newspapers commenting upon the enemy's report of the severe losses suffered by King Victor Emmanuel's army assert that false statements have been sent out with the hope of influencing neutral nations and preventing them from entering the war.

ORDER THE EVACUATION OF VILNA

Official Announcement Occasions Deep Dismay at Petrograd.

(Special to The Herald)

Petrograd, Aug. 10.—Evacuation of Vilna, the capital of the government of Vilna, has been ordered by the Russian war office. The evacuation has begun and the treasures of the great library and museum are being removed. Official announcement to this effect was made here today and caused deep dismay.

Vilna is a city of nearly 200,000 inhabitants and is an important railway center, 55 miles southeast of Kovno, and about 250 miles northeast of Warsaw. The announcement of its evacuation was the first intimation that had been made that the retreating Russian army would abandon the Kovno-Grodno-Brest Litovsk line of defense, and withdraw further into the interior of Russia. Kovno and Grodno constitute the main defenses of Vilna, which is on the Warsaw-Petrograd railway and it is considered highly improbable that the Russians would evacuate it if they expected to keep the two fortresses.

TO PROTECT AMERICAN INTERESTS

Commander McNamee Asks That Battleship Be Sent to Vera Cruz.

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Aug. 10.—Commander McNamee of the United States gunboat Sacramento and in charge of the American interests at Vera Cruz, has appealed for American battleships to be rushed there to protect American interests.

The battleships Louisiana and New Hampshire, now at Newport, R. I., are in readiness to sail as soon as orders are received to sail. Orders are held up temporarily pending word from President Wilson.

INDICTMENTS IN EASTLAND HORROR

(Special to The Herald)

Chicago, August 10.—The Cook county grand jury voted indictments against the men whom the jurors believe responsible for the Eastland horror. The number of indictments State's Attorney Hayne said was between six and twelve. The return of the indictments will be made Wednesday before Judge Kersten.

MEXICANS ARE TROUBLESOME

Attempt to Raid Town of Sebastian and Shoot Night Watchman Who Gives Alarm

(Special to The Herald)
Harlingen, Texas, Aug. 10.—Mexican bandits who were defeated in their attack upon the King ranch house at Sebring on Sunday night, attempted to raid the town of Sebastian early today. They were surprised by a night

GUNBOAT CASTINE SENT TO ST. MARC

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, D. C., August 10.—Admiral Caperton, commanding the American forces at Haiti today notified the navy department that he had sent the gunboat Castine to St. Marc where new Haitian troubles were reported.

Admiral Caperton did not go into details about the St. Marc trouble but it is believed by officials here to be minor.

The Haitian gunboat Nord Alexis has gone back to Cape Haitien to get more soldiers who have laid down their arms and taken them to towns along the coast from where they can get to their homes. Port Liberté has been evacuated by the government troops in conformity with their intention to disarm. Admiral reports that all is quiet at Port au Prince and Cape Haitien.

MEXICAN KILLED IN BORDER FIGHT

(Special to The Herald)

Brownsville, Texas, August 10.—In a fight between American cavalrymen and Mexican bandits between Donna and Mercedes early today one of the Mexicans was killed. The U. S. soldiers captured a mule laden with ammunition which the bandits abandoned in their flight.

According to reports received here the bandits are armed with Mauser rifles, the official weapon of Mexico. It is said that two of the Mexicans killed at Nohias wore cavalry trousers of the pattern recently issued to Carranza soldiers.

Lobsters and fish of all kinds caught by our own boats, fresh every day. E. Jameson and Sons, Tel. 215.

PULL TRIO FROM OVERTURNED CAR

President and Dr. Grayson Give Aid to Victims of Accident.

Cornish, Aug. 9.—President Wilson tonight spent several hours on official business received at the summer White House from Washington, the Mexican situation claiming his careful attention. He also was in communication with Secretary of State Lansing and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo.

This afternoon the President took an automobile ride and during his trip went to the assistance of three automobilists whose machines had him over an embankment and capsized about three miles from his summer home.

The President was automobiling with Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, his daughter, and Dr. Cary T. Grayson, on the road between Windsor and Ascutneyville, Vt. It had just stopped riding and the road was slippery.

As the President's automobile rounded a curve he and his companions were startled to see another machine overturned at the bottom of an embankment. Mr. Wilson and Dr. Grayson hurried to investigate. They found C. C. Judd, Miss E. A. Swasey and Mrs. Emma Hathaway, all of Kopych, Vt., under the overturned automobile, and the President helped to pull them out. They were badly bruised and frightened, but on examination by Dr. Grayson showed that none of them was seriously hurt.

The President and Dr. Grayson assisted the women to the road, and then Mr. Wilson directed that the secret service men accompanying him to remain behind and render all assistance possible. The people in the overturned automobile did not recognize the President and did not know who had helped them until later, but they thanked him profusely for his aid.

For several minutes the President remained standing in the mud examining the wrecked car. After determining that he could do nothing further, the President continued his ride.

The secret service men took the two women to Windsor, Vt., in another machine.

KITTERY

Breezy Items from the Village
Across the River.

Mrs. Leland L. Riley who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Rogaskie of the Junction, has returned to her home in Quincy, Mass.

Mrs. Marion Tanner of Peoria, Ill., who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Frank J. Cournoyer has gone to York Corner for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Baker and son Junior of Otis avenue, have returned from a visit with relatives in Everett, Mass.

The S. V. Club will hold a birthday party on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Abrams Newsum avenue. The birthday of three of the members occurring so near together it will be celebrated at the one time. Those members are Mrs. Fred Abrams, Mrs. Bertha Clarkson and Miss Gustie Phillips.

Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Yeomans left Monday for Windsor, Vt., where they will be the guests of Rev. and Mrs. C. T. Waldron. They will make an automobile tour through the White Mountains and return home via Portland.

Miss Eleanor L. Lovell of Stimpson street left Monday for a two weeks' visit with Mrs. W. G. Meloon at Jackson, N. H.

A special meeting of the Philatelic Club will be held in the vestry of the Second Christian church on Wednesday evening. All members are urged to attend as business of importance will come up for discussion.

Miss Lottie Windrich of Love Lane and friend Harry Crouse are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Donnell of Wyoma, Mass.

Mrs. Chase has returned to her home in Worcester, Mass., after a visit with friends in town.

Master Charles Wurm has returned to his home on Walker street after a visit with his grandparents in New York city.

Charles Johnson has returned to his home in Worcester, Mass., after a visit with his sister, Mrs. Sarah Trefethen of Walker street.

A choir rehearsal will be held this evening at the Second Christian church following the prayer meeting.

The Boy Scouts will meet at 6.30 o'clock this evening in the vestry of the Second Methodist church.

On Wednesday occurs the fair given by the Ladies Aid of the Second Methodist church. Supper will be served from 5.30 to 7 o'clock after which a concert will be given under the auspices of the Brotherhood. The program includes readings, piano, violin and vocal solos. The committee in charge of the fair has gotten up a very attractive eight-page folder containing many things of interest to the reader, among them being the church calendar. The following facts concerning the activity of the church may be of interest: 138 members of the church, 270 members in the Sunday school, 127 members in the Epworth League. There is a Brotherhood for the men, a Boy Scout troop among the boys, a Ladies Aid of the women, and a club for girls. A nursery is maintained for the children and babies. Financially the church is supported by voluntary offerings. There is no endowment. It raises a budget of $1500 yearly. A live church is a credit to any town. To quote further from the folder: "The people make the town—what are you doing for the public welfare of this town? The pessimist sees the same town tomorrow; the optimist sees a good town today and a better town tomorrow. Did you help the Young Men's Christian Association to secure clean play, entertainment, uplift, and development of our latest powers? Our definition of a good citizen of a town is one who supports the institutions of his town, patronizes its stores and shops, attends its churches, secures law enforcement, upholds the officers of the town, state and nation, and is a good neighbor."

A lawn party will be held this evening on the Grange Hall grounds under the auspices of the Catholic Club. A supper will be served from 6.30 to 7.30 o'clock, following which there will be an entertainment.

Mrs. George King has returned to her home in Concord.

The Queen Mother Circle will meet with Miss Esther Brackett on Friday afternoon.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS HAVE REAL GEM IN SECOND BASEMAN JACK MILLER

JACK MILLER

St. Louis, Aug. 10.—Miller Huggins has on the Cardinal team a ball player who is really one of the stars of the National league, but whose ability is not appreciated by the fans. The player referred to is John Miller, who is now playing second base, but who has also been at first and short, at which positions he delivered as brilliant a brand of ball as he is now giving his club at second base. Miller is so great an infielder that Manager Bressanah of the Cubs would rather obtain him than any other athlete in the league unless it be Art Fletcher of the Giants or Buck Herzog of Cincinnati. Miller first gained prominence when he joined the Pittsburgh team and played second base alongside of Hans Wagner. On enrolling with the Pirates he was crude in his actions and had only a fair knowledge of the game, but "close association" with the game's greatest shortstop improved him immensely, made him a star at the keystone sack and an asset to the club. For a long time he was one of Fred Clarke's most timely hitters and was invaluable because of his aggressiveness and hustling qualities. When Clarke needed a first baseman he took Miller off second and placed him there. He did as well at one position as at the other. There was trouble in the ranks, and Miller was one of the men who resented their treatment by the officials of the club. What was more, he thought his services were worth more to the team, but Barney Dreyfuss did not agree with him. As a result a trade was made with the Cardinals. Since joining that team Miller has played as great a game as any infielder in the National league. Huggins declares he would not part with him for any trade or sum of money that a club might offer.

len. "Herzog is the best balanced player in any league, he is the most aggressive, the brainiest and the hardest worker," said Huggins.

"Herzog always pulls the unexpected. He is ever on the alert. Nothing escapes him. He's a wonderful hitter in a pinch, the steadiest and coolest man in the game in a crisis, and his amazingly nimble brain never overlooks an advantage for his team."

Japs Playing Golf.

Four Japanese merchants of New York rank among the best golfers enrolled among the members of the North Jersey Country Club. They took up the game about a year ago and have shown such wonderful skill at it that they are able right now to give a real battle to the best players among the white members of the club.

The Japs are: T. Awoki, H. Yoshida, K. Ichimura and S. Nomura.

"Golf is a wonderful game," said Nomura. "We are fascinated by it and play it whenever we get a chance. We try always to improve our game by watching the expert Americans play. We never miss a championship contest in this section in which the American stars are contestants."

Lenox Wins a Five Spot.

Just as soon as Honus Wagner learned that the Pittsburgh sufragists were donating $5 for every home run made on the Pirate field, he trotted out his longest war club and banged out a 25 hit—and with the bases loaded, too.

"I didn't expect to make any more than two or three home runs this year," Honus told the sufragists, "but now that a fellow gets a five-spot for each one, I guess I'll exert myself a bit."

The Japs told Honus to go right ahead—they didn't care how many he made—"as long as you make them for Pittsburgh."

Cowler Is a Novice.

Tonny Cowler, sometimes referred to as "Jim Corbett's meal ticket," isn't the enough to go against first class heavyweights. He's huge in size and packs a deadly wallop. But he's too "green" and too clumsy just now to land it. He knows the rudiments of the boxing game—but little more.

A year or two of seasoning may develop Cowler into a real ring warrior, but just now he's in the third rate class.

Ban's "Dire" Threat.

Ban Johnson has spoken again, or shall we say "Ban is still speaking." Anyway, he said something. He said: "Any person connected with the St. Louis Federal League Club is removed from any consideration whatever so far as Organized Baseball is concerned."

And then there were cruel ones? Read the want ads.

GEN. GOETHALS ANNOUNCES RESIGNATION

Will Relinquish the Governorship of Panama on Nov. 1st.

New York, Aug. 9.—The date of Gen. George W. Goethals' resignation as governor of the Panama canal zone has been designated as Nov. 1 in his formal resignation, sent to Washington, according to an announcement made by him upon his arrival there from Cristobal.

General Goethals is surrendering his office because he believes his work at Panama is done and the canal is operating satisfactorily. He has spent seven years in Panama. Although he will no longer be connected with the Canal zone's affairs as governor, should his resignation be accepted, he said today, that he would retain his commission in the army.

Announcement of the date of his resignation was made at the conclusion of the last trip which General Goethals expects to make as governor from Cristobal to New York. General Goethals had expected until a few hours before sailing, to leave Panama on a two months' vacation, during which he would visit the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco and return to Panama the latter part of September. His plans were changed at the last minute by the receipt of instructions requiring him to appear in Washington.

In obedience to these instructions, General Goethals expected to leave New York after a few hours' stay here for Washington. His wife and son accompanied him on the trip from Cristobal to this city. Mrs. Goethals will remain in New York during his absence in Washington.

The fans outside of New York city continue to maintain a neutral attitude. They don't care which club wins the National League pennant—as long as it isn't the Giants.

The Giants aren't popular. That's the penalty that usually comes to the successful. Outside of New York the very always has been "Down with the Giants."

The Giants are down quite some distance just now. The bulk of fans and the majority of baseball sharps don't see much hope for them as 1915 pennant winners. But John McGraw says: "We aren't beaten yet."

GRAND ARMY ENCAMPMENT WILL HOLD MANY HONORS FOR THE VETS

National Museum's Exhibit of Flags, Weapons, Uniforms and Other Relics of Great War Will Be An Interesting Feature.

Washington, Aug. 10.—The Grand Army encampment will hold many honors for the Civil war veterans but apart from the Grand Review to be held here Sept. 27 to Oct. 2, an historic echo of that other review of fifty years ago, it is doubtful if any plan will exceed in emotional value a visit to the National Museum's exhibit of flags, weapons, uniforms and other relics of the great war.

For every veteran who marches along historic Pennsylvania avenue, a link in the chain which connects his twilight years with the immortal army of his youth, there will be some predominating memory of war days to keep step with him to the call of life and drum.

And over in the National Museum the big moment of his life may again vision itself in memory, that spark-like, will flash out its glimpse of a lost ago soldier boy who was daring enough to follow wherever a flag led the way. From Sumter to Appomattox the museum sketches the war by means of many records, the most unusual of which is a bullet-riddled stump, which tells the story of Spotylvania Court House.

To the old soldier who had his share in that battle, the stump means something more than so much dead wood. He sees it a giant oak, spreading its centuries of leafy shade over those Confederate intrenchments. But he can see it, right now, that poor old tree, cut down by enemy musket balls during an attempt to recapture the works. The battered trunk has bridged the gulf of a half century.

Ulysses S. Grant will live in their memories until the last pulse beat of the last bay in blue, and the belongings of the commanding general of the army will be of special interest to every soldier who fought under him in the civil war.

Shoulder straps, buttons, hat ornaments and epaulets, grouped in the order in which they were earned, serve as so many stepping stones to the heights of military glory to which the hero attained, and there is a war-gained uniform which looks as if it had gone through more than enough to earn the "gold-fringed epaulets of the general of the army" which blaze in a gorgeous heap nearby. The Grant collection is large enough to fill four great cases, and so varied in character as to represent almost every quarter of the globe. The smallest exhibit is a jade cup, the size and color of a wild duck's egg, and not much thicker than its shell. It was a gift from the regent of China at the time of General Grant's visit to the Orient. The largest specimen is a magnificent buffet, composed of cloud-tinted onyx, veined with a dozen colors, and mounted in dull, carved brass. The citizens of Pueblo, Mexico, took this method of expressing "their appreciation of their warrior guest."

Though the equestrian statue of Grant will not be completed in time for the encampment, a bronze Sherman on a bronze steed will figure in the coming review. The museum also recalls the valiant Sherman with his service sword used at Shiloh, and a breastplate made of buttons from the uniform worn by him on his march to the sea.

There are war flags that carry a thrill in each frayed stripe and tarnished star. From the garrison standard, lowered at Fort Mifflin in 1869, when Major Anderson and his command evacuated that post to occupy Fort Sumter, to the flag raised at Richmond in 1865, each powder-marked, bullet-torn emblem represents a chapter of national history written in indelible red, white and blue.

And there is another flag! It is such a long flag that its length stretches the course of several cases. Its four stripes are each a yard wide and its nine stars are larger than any starfish that ever came out of the sea. From end to end it is encased in a honey-comb mesh of twine, a precaution taken to preserve its glory for the coming ages, for this is the garrison flag that so proudly waved over Fort Mifflin during the bombardment of the British in 1814, and which inspired Francis Scott Key to write the "Star Spangled Banner." The flag was placed in the museum by a relative of Col. George Armstrong, commander of the fort, who with his men, won victory for the standard in "the dawn's early light."

The Grand Army veteran will live forever in song and story, but the weapon with which he fought his way to immortality is junk today. Carbine, musket and rifle have given way to machine guns, and the clash of sabres, man to man, has been replaced by long-distance shells. Of the firearms that fill countless racks and cases in the museum the veteran will find duplicates, lock, stock and barrel, of every weapon he carried in the Civil war.

A committee of wealthy Jews hastened to Petrograd to demand protection for the property of the expelled families. The delegation was received by the prime minister who promised to look into the matter, but fully four weeks passed before the committee received an answer to its petition.

"The premier notified the committee that the government would permit the expelled families to return to their homes, if the military governors of the provinces had no objections. The delegation went to Dvinsk to see the governor-general of the "war zone" Prince Tiumanoff, who harshly decided that the Jews could only return if a number of hostages, selected from the ranks of the rabbi, bankers, and wealthy merchants, etc., were given into his hands. These hostages were to be hanged at the slightest act of treasonable conduct committed by Jews.

The committee was of course not willing to furnish the hostages and the 250,000 expelled unfortunates were to stay in Chernigov and Poltava. Their sufferings are awful and their property in the provinces has either been stolen by the Russian soldiers or destroyed.

EARTHQUAKE IN SOUTHERN ITALY

Hannover, Germany (via Berlin wireless), Aug. 9.—Violent earth tremors were recorded early today by the observatory here. The seismograph indicated a severe earthquake in the southern part of Europe, probably in Calabria or Albania.

Calabria is the southernmost province of Italy, forming the toe of the Italian "boot." It has suffered from a number of severe quakes, the one in 1783 being one of the most disastrous in history. The latest dispatches from Rome contain no reports of earthquakes.

280,000 JEWS DRIVEN FROM RUSSIA

Berlin, August 10.—The "Juedische Rundschau," the most widely circulated Jewish paper of Germany, publishes the following description of the Russian Jews in the war zone:

"Events which are fast becoming a catastrophe are reported from Russia. Our brethren are subjected to persecutions which even in the empire of the 'Little Father' had been unheard of before the war. The conditions prevailing in the western Russian provinces are described in a report which has just been smuggled across the border.

"In June all Jews by order of the Russian military authorities, were expelled from the provinces of Kovno, Courland and Suwalki. In most cases the unfortunate men, women and children driven from their homes were only given time to pack up a few of their belongings. Each woman who had just given birth to children or were expecting confinement, sick people, cripples and the wounded Jewish soldiers in the hospitals, doctors and nurses had to go.

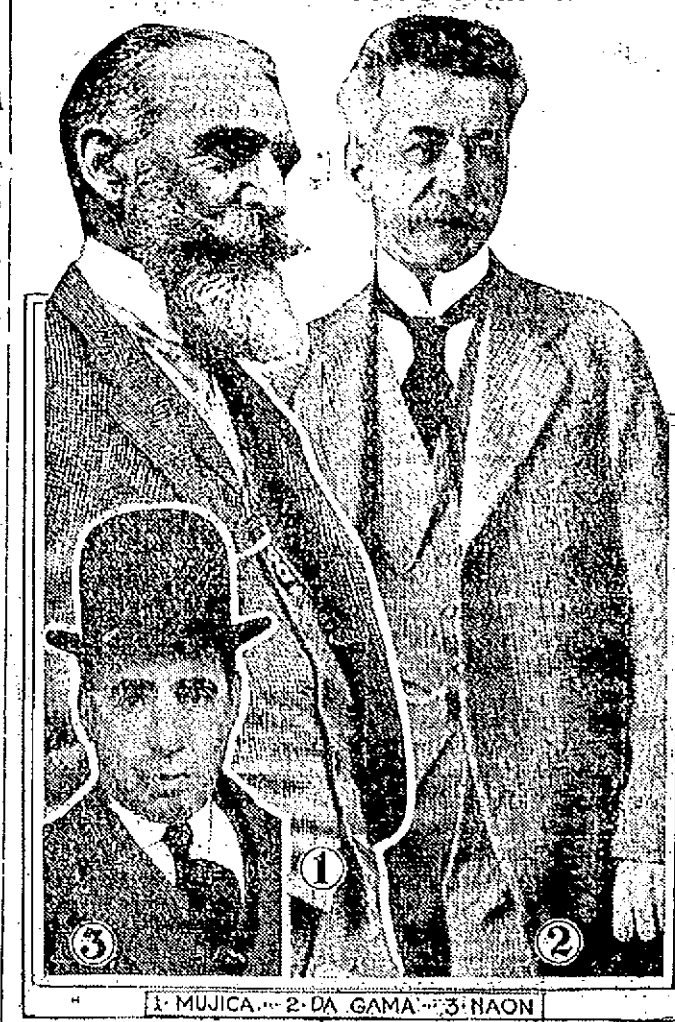

From the province of Kovno alone 150,000 Jews were expelled, and 100,000 more from Suwalki and Courland. The unfortunates were transported to the eastern provinces of Chernigov and Poltava in long trains of filthy freight cars. Many of the trains consisted of fifty or even seventy cars. Human beings were packed together with cattle, their household goods and freight of all kinds. The sick had no care whatever and the trains were not allowed to stop at any station.

"Thousands did not find transportation on these 'special trains' and had to flee on farmers' wagons. The owners of these wagons in most cases demanded eighty to one hundred rubles and there was nothing left to the Jews, but pay it.

LATIN AMERICANS IMPRESSED WITH PRESIDENT WILSON'S PLAN IN MEXICO

Photos by American Press Association.

In a stage setting, less picturesque, though equally as impressive as the last attempt, the principal nations in the western hemisphere, inaugurated what is generally believed to be the final move to rescue 15,000,000 ineffective Mexican people from 150,000 brigands masquerading as soldiers. There was about the gathering of the diplomatic representatives of six Latin-American countries at the state department of the United States government an air of finality that left no doubt of the resolute purpose of the participants to substitute in the revolution ridden republic of Mexico education for repression, land laws for brigandage and a reformed judiciary for illegally imposed plundering. The discussion of the plan by which these elements essential to all properly organized governments are to be established was not conclusive, but progress enough was made to justify the assertion that all the nations taking part in it are of one mind—that the time has arrived when further conversation and argument must give place to decisive action. The last time some Latin American nations undertook to bring order out of chaos in the Mexican republic there resulted two months of running discussion within our reach of the majestic falls of Niagara, but no other result. This time, however, there promise to be tangible results of a more substantial character and less Latin American volatility. In the accompanying illustration are shown Senor Don Eduardo Suarez Mujica, ambassador from Chile; Senor D. Da Gama, Brazilian ambassador, and Senor Romulo Naon, Argentine ambassador.

HOW THE WAR NEWS IS SENT TO RURAL DISTRICTS OF GERMANY

Berlin, August 10.—The splendid organization of which Germany boasts covers even the distribution of war news in the rural districts. All messages carried by the angles of the empire in the east and west become known within a few hours in farmhouses that are miles from the nearest telephone or telegraph station.

This is accomplished by a very simple system. The schoolmasters of all small villages which have no newspapers are informed by telegraph or telephone whenever a victory has been won somewhere. After telling their charges what has happened the rural educators dismiss school and the pupils run home shouting "Hurrah!" and telling everybody the glad tidings. During vacation time the boys come to the school house once or twice a day to get the news the teacher may have received.

As a rule this system works admirably, but sometimes it causes funny incidents. The children get the reports mixed up, or in their patriotic zeal they so enlarge upon them that their stories become as fanciful as the reports of the British or French war correspondents.

In a little village the other day, the schoolmaster informed his pupils that the French were badly defeated in the Argonne Forest and that Hindenburg and Mackensen had captured 10,000 more Russians. A small boy, whose geographical knowledge does not go very far beyond the limits of his native town joyfully reported at home: "The Russians are now in France; they have killed the French in the Argonne and captured ten thousand, but Hindenburg and Mackensen are after them."

The population of another Mecklenburg hamlet was thrown into a ferment last week when the "Hurrah" of the schoolboys echoed through the streets even more joyously than on former occasions. The youngsters sang and danced and when questioned they gleefully announced: "Our schoolmaster has been called to the front."

FANS AND VEILS IN THE TRENCHES

Berlin, August 10.—"The war" has brought a new surprise," the French author Gustave Terry writes to the Geneva Tribune. "We all knew that the fan is a dangerous woman in the hands of a beautiful and fashionable woman. But who would have thought that fans should become a means of defense for our brave soldiers in the trenches?"

"This is a fact though. Thousands and thousands of fans are used by our troops at the front. With them our soldiers drive off foes who are far more numerous and dangerous than the Germans. These enemies are the filthy flies which swarm on the battlefields and carry death and disease. All ladies therefore are urgently requested to send every old fan they may have around the house to the trenches.

Not less welcome than fans are old veils and bundles of gauze. These are used to protect the soldiers against the poisonous flies which make life miserable to the defenders of our country.

"A French soldier is a strange sight nowadays. Before his face he wears a mask to protect him against the poisonous gases used by the enemy, his head is wrapped up in a veil and in one hand he swings a fan. This outfit is practical and saves many lives.

For curache, toothache, pains, burns, scalds, sore throat, try Dr. Thomas' Eucalyptic Oil, a splendid remedy for emergencies.

An Invaluable Discovery.

As, according to an old saying, "it is always darkest just before daylight," so when it seems that the limit of discovery or invention has been reached along any line there frequently comes some new discovery or invention to startle and bless the world and lead to the belief that there is practically no limit to human achievement.

The latest discovery in the medical world is an antiseptic which, it is claimed, will make infection in wounds impossible if applied in time. This discovery was made by Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research and Dr. Henry D. Dakin of the Lister Institute. The two scientists have been studying and experimenting for some time at the Compiègne Military Hospital in France, and are convinced that they have made a discovery whose value to the world will be only second in importance to that of anaesthetics.

The danger of infection from wounds is one of the greatest that exists today. Blood poisoning is the term commonly used, and all know how common this is at the present time. Every year hundreds of injuries, insignificant in themselves, result fatally through infection, or blood poisoning, notwithstanding the strides that have been made in the development and use of antiseptics, and if it is true that an antiseptic has now been discovered which is so far superior to all others as the discoverers believe it to be, the world will hail its introduction with profound satisfaction.

So skillful have surgery and the treatment of wounds become that the people do not appreciate them at their value. It is all taken as a matter of course and many, especially among the young, do not realize that these things have not always been as they are now. But they have not. The advances that have been made within the memory of many now living seem little short of miraculous.

One such discovery as this should be sufficient to teach the incalculable value of such an institution as the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research and others of its kind, and of the services of men who devote their lives to the study of ameliorating human suffering. Such discoveries mean progress in the true sense of the word and prove that man has not yet reached the limit of his capabilities and development. They give ground for the belief that there are still greater things in store and that the future of this old world is to be in spite of all drawbacks, greater, grander and better than its past.

The wife of Governor Whitman of New York has been receiving threatening letters, and as a result his summer place at Newport is strongly guarded. Of course it is not known where the letters came from, but in view of a recent important happening it is easy to understand the character of their writers, if not to locate them. And they are liable some day to wake up to the fact that they are in very dangerous business.

Many cities are already out to gather in the republican and democratic national conventions next year. These gatherings call together such numbers of delegates and others as to make them desirable in a business way, to say nothing of the advertising brought to the city, and this accounts for the strife to obtain them. But those who select the convention cities should consult the convenience of the delegates alone.

Great Britain is preparing to go after the German submarines with fast power boats armed with rapid-fire guns, and naval authorities who have considered the plan believe it will be effective. Nothing stimulates inventive genius more than war, but it would be much better for the world if this could be applied in some other direction.

The national conference on race betterment, which opened a four days' session at San Francisco last week, had as one of its objects the establishment of a registry for "human thoroughbreds." Will it not be nice indeed when certain Americans will be able to point to their families as "registered stock?"

A contemporary leads one to wonder whether it was intentionally or accidentally sarcastic when in referring to the number of German-born men in the United States it says: "Of these, 889,007 had been naturalized and were American citizens."

Austria is said to be in the grip of cholera. In view of the devilish instrumentalities and methods introduced into the present war it would seem to be about time for the different belligerents to infect each other's ranks with deadly disease.

Congratulations to China, which is slowly but steadily gaining in its fight against the importation of opium, the curse of that and every other country where its use is not confined strictly to the field of medicine.

CURRENT OPINION

Agricultural Progress Not Keeping Pace With Industrial Growth.

The troubles with American agriculture are not so much of pressing, immediate importance as they are fraught with grave consequences for the future. Europe's problem was to remove troubles which actually existed. Ours is to prevent them from occurring. Agricultural progress here is not keeping pace with the expansion of industry and the growth of population.

Unless its progress be accelerated the shortcomings of agriculture and the rapid advance of all things else will sooner or later be detrimental to the country's welfare.

The causes of these shortcomings are manifold. The want of good roads is one and the absence of social pleasures is another cause, but the greatest of all is, in my opinion, the lack of organized selling and purchasing power.

Organized selling and purchasing power is best attained through co-operation.

Co-operation must be built up by the farmers themselves by starting at the very roots and depending on their own resources and efforts, first assembled and combined in basic units or local co-operative banks or credit societies.

BRITISH SOLDIERS IN FAVOR OF CONSCRIPTION

London, Aug. 10.—The British soldiers at the front in France, members of Lord Kitchener's expeditionary force, favor conscription. This is but one instance of the distaste with which the fighting men of England, who are giving their time and their lives to their country, view the present government and also the press of the United Kingdom.

That dissatisfaction with the manner in which the war has been conducted during its first year is spreading throughout the British nation there can be no doubt. The following letter from a British soldier in Flanders to a London newspaper is self-explanatory:

To the Editor:
Sir—I cannot but start with amazement, although you are one of those "in touch with the vast anti-conscriptionist mass of British opinion," as your leading writer puts it. Damn British opinion, sir; damn the vain, self-complacent English smugness and English arrogance. To your "vast mass" the idea of defeat is quite inconceivable, for are they not the boys of the bulldog breed, the descendants of countless heroes, free men in a free country, who just won't be slaves the liberators of Belgium, and so on ad nauseam? So colossal is British arrogance that our brains and imaginations are swamped.

I shall be quite frank. Had conscription passed twelve months since, I should have left England. Now if they don't have it I shall leave the country—rats have the foresight to leave certain ships. Circumstances alter cases, but I fear that they will never give the Englishman sufficient insight to see what a fool he really can be.

And you, in touch with your vast mass, won't have national service in the nation's cause because "all that is characteristically English dies if English freedom perishes." Those worn-out myths! None of us are free, and you know it. We are all slaves of the community, and some think, of the country in which we live.

Will you leave your dear old principles for a moment, and look at things from another point of view? In a great national crisis it must be taken for granted (I assume that the nation is virtuous) that every man and woman is willing to serve the country. In other words, every man and woman is a volunteer. If you deny this hypothesis, you damn the country and "your vast mass of British opinion." Probably your principles will not be shocked by this statement. Well, then, every man and woman is willing to serve. To take full advantage of this willingness it must be organized—in a word, conscription; that awful bogey word, which gives some little liberals and some little Socialists bad dreams.

I know that I am not writing to a child, but conscription does not mean that everyone is a soldier—it means that George, who is an engineer, engineers for the state. Tom, who is a skilled workman, works for the state; and Harry and Bill, who are fit to fight, fight and perhaps die for the state. The state calls her children and allots to them their tasks.

What monstrous, wicked, bloody oppression!

And you must go on unabashedly with your old voluntary middle. George the engineer may join the R. A. M. C., Tom the skilled workman may fight, and the Harrys and Bills may become politicians and newspaper editors, for all the country seems to care.

Of course, one volunteer is equal to four pressed men. Our copy-books say so, therefore it must be true. "Anyhow," said an English soldier, "I hope I never meet a German volunteer."

Throw away your principles, man, throw away the lumber of the past and look things in the face. Don't blather about God upholding the cause of the just and the bulldog pluck pulling us through—I am tired of pulp and music-hall sentiments. Try to teach your vast mass of English opinion to surpass the Germans at their own game.

I cannot say why I treated you to this round of abuse—you are no worse than others, if anything a trifle better than that loathsome Northcliffe crowd with their party political jollies.

But you, sir, are blinded by principles—which is nearly as bad. Round hand and foot by past traditions and the utterances of statesmen now happily dead, but unfortunately not forgotten. Cannot "The Daily Chronicle" think for itself, or must it still be bound by the opinions of say, Gladstone? Really, even such a demi-god as he can get out of date.

Could you but realize how nauseating it is to read any London daily, "the mouthpieces of the nation" (in book letters, please), with their squabbles, their meanness and their follies.

You are better—that is why I take the trouble to write this, but good God! you're bad enough.

I am abusive, but when moved, superficial politeness is jettisoned, and, candidly, nothing would give me greater pleasure than to drive these things into your head with a mallet—the distance, however, is too great. Even the Germans and their deadly earnestness cannot convince you.

This letter is not intended for any publicity, though it would be amusing to see some of your public reading it; nor is it intended to draw forth any reply. The labor in writing it will not be graded if I knew that you had read it and thought for five minutes on what I have said.

I am, sir, yours very truly,

LANCASHIRE.

QUALITY NOT QUANTITY IN COLLEGE WORK

"College and university education has outgrown the 'boom' stage," declares Dr. Samuel P. Capen, in the annual report of the U. S. Commission of Education, just issued.

"The day of the academic promoter of the inflation of values is over," continues Dr. Capen. "Expansion is still going on, but for the most part unaccompanied by the frenzied advertising so common in the past and encouragingly free from the optimistic confusion of prospects and realities. The developments of the year strengthen the condition which has been ripening for some time that higher education is now looking to its foundation and setting its house in order.

"Colleges and universities have come under the sway of the slogan 'efficiency.' Surveys undertaken by outsiders and by officials of the institution to be examined have become increasingly frequent, there has been vigorous activity on the part of several voluntary associations that concern themselves with standards of entrance, graduation, and constitutional equipment. Some of this activity has crystallized in the form of recommendations that will effect educational procedure over considerable areas. The adoption of some form of group system has been reported to the U. S. Bureau of Education by 21 institutions, undoubtedly only a fraction of the whole number of colleges that have taken this step."

The idea that it is quality rather than quantity of work done by a college student that counts toward effective education, has already received tangible recognition in a few institutions through the granting of extra credit for quality, says Dr. Capen. Several prominent institutions have been reorganized and other new departments have been formed; and several others are experimenting with new types of vocational courses related to local industrial activities.

Dr. Capen mentions Montana, Kansas, and Idaho as "three more states where the administration of State institutions of higher education has been further centralized through recent legislative action."

HARVEST DISEASE.

Although of brief duration, the harvest disease, as it is commonly known, is one of the most annoying and most troublesome complaints of the summer season. It is of frequent occurrence, seldom recognized, and widely disseminated. The disease is generally ascribed to errors of diet, over-exertion or poisoning, and but few of the afflicted are aware that the cause of their suffering is a minute six-legged insect.

The "jigger," "chigger," or harvest mite, which occasions this vexatious summer eruption belongs to the mite family. This in itself is sufficient to cause some doubt in the minds of the enlightened, inasmuch as several other members of the family have gained fame through misbehavior. The harvest mite is a notorious example. It has been with us since history began and still afflicts the human race. The straw mite, only recently discovered, is also acquiring somewhat of a reputation.

The adult jigger is harmless. It apparently loves the freedom of the woods and open fields, attaching itself to leaves and grasses and utterly ignoring all human intruders. The young are hatched in July and August and appear from the eggs as minute orange-red larvae. For some inexplicable reason they show a considerable predilection for human society, willingly forsaking their natural habitat for the uncertainties of life with man. When lodged upon the skin they immediately select a favorable site and rapidly begin to penetrate the outer layers of burrowing. The trouble begins at this stage. The irritation at first mild, becomes intense as the burrowing proceeds and is accompanied by redness, swelling and inflammation. Frequently the eruption resembles that of bites or even eczema and the itching is so severe that lesions due to violent scratching may ensue. The irritation may be confined to particular portions of the body or become widespread. Depending upon the number of larvae entrenching themselves, the suffering may be acute, preventing sleep and even leading to other disturbances, while at the best the degree of discomfort is such as to demand remedial measures. Just why the larvae exhibit burrowing propensities in this manner is unknown. Their action is apparently without reason, as they invariably perish within a few days after commencing their nefarious attack. Their demise is most welcome to the sufferer.

Early treatment of jigger rash or trombidiosis, as it is known, is essential. If the condition is recognized at its onset the sufferer can almost invariably plot with exactness to the burrowing sites and frequently the disappearing extremities of the intruders may be observed. A needle, sterilized by boiling, may be used to pluck the invaders from their dermal entrenchments, and even if the search proves unsuccessful, the counter-irritation produced by the instrument is pleasurable, and affords great enjoyment to the afflicted. If the swelling or oedema of the skin is considerable, or if the lesions are not recent, search will prove futile as the larvae are already safely buried. One can then only hope for an early termination of their activities, this usually requiring from five to seven days. Several extremely useful preparations are prescribed by physicians, not only to kill the mites, but to reduce the irritation and relieve the itching. Bathing directly after exposure is advisable in order to drown the parasites. The best treatment is, however, the avoidance of the haunts of the tormentors.

RUSSIAN ARMY NEARLY AT BAY NOW PRAGA IS TAKEN

London, August 9.—While the Austro-German armies made fresh progress today in their campaign against the Russians, the conflict on the western front took on new impetus when, according to the report of Sir John French, commander of the British expeditionary force, a fierce artillery engagement took place in which British and French forces captured trenches at Hooge along a front of 1,200 yards.

The occupation of Praga, reported by Berlin, brings to a dramatic climax the first phase of the drive at the Polish capital and the region of eastern Poland of which Warsaw is the dominating center. Praga is essentially a part of the capital with great railway stations on the roads running to Petrograd and Moscow. Few details have been received of Grand Duke Nicholas' final stand at Praga, but the indications are that the withdrawal of the Russians, became imperative in order to escape from the German lines gradually driving together in their rear.

Russians Hemmed In? Warsaw, now in the apex of a vast letter V, the arms of which are the river Narew on the north and the Vistula on the south. The German lines spread along these rivers are contracting gradually as the armies in the north and those in the south approach each other. The strip of territory across which the Russians may withdraw to safer positions now is hardly more than thirty miles across.

Besides this enveloping movement immediately east of Warsaw, Berlin reports a steady hammering at the great Russian fortresses of Kovno and Lomza, the chief significance of which is their proximity to the lines of railroad communications to Petrograd. Novogorodsk is the only place west of Warsaw at which a Russian garrison remains, and its fall seems imminent.

The attitude of the Poles toward the new German regime is arousing deep interest, as the occupation of Warsaw makes for the first time three branches of the Poles heretofore divided among Russia, Germany and Austria. Under the Russian regime Poland has been a hotbed of disorder and it remains to be seen whether control of this occupied territory will be as difficult a problem for Germany as it has been for Russia.

The official report characterized the operations around Hooge as a battle, but Sir John French's later report shows them to be another trench fight, preceded by a severe artillery exchange and resulting in the recapture by the British of nearly a mile of trenches previously taken by the Germans. This has served to divert public attention temporarily from the magnitude of the German sweep in the eastern field, but operations in the west still lack general significance.

The commander of another British submarine whose name has not yet been disclosed was reported today to have distinguished himself by sinking the Turkish battleship Kheyr-ed-Din at Baborska.

Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's troops to the north and northeast of Warsaw are steadily pressing east and southeast; a ring of besiegers has been forged around the fortress of Novogorodsk, the last stronghold on the Vistula line remaining in Russian hands; Praga, the eastern suburb of Warsaw upon which the Muscovites fell back when they evacuated the Polish capital, has been captured; the railroad from Warsaw to Lublin has been crossed between Ivangorod, and Gorkow, evidently with the idea of moving on to Lukow, the junction of the Ivangorod-Brest-Litovsk railway. Further eastward and southward between the Vistula and Bug and along the Vepz, the Russians are still falling back, but at some points especially between the Vepz and the Bug they continue their resistance.

The bag of prisoners at Warsaw was small, Berlin declaring that only a few thousand of men were taken. Nor has the number captured by Archduke Joseph Ferdinand, been large. Vienna asserting merely that the number of men captured by him has been increased 8,000.

Although the Teutonic attack seemingly have not been successful as yet in entrapping any large section of the Russian Grand Duke's forces, according to the Overseas News Agency, they have obtained in their invasion of Poland a plentiful supply of foodstuffs for their men and forage for their horses.

The news agency reports that many farmers disobeyed the Russian order to destroy their crops and that the Germans and Austrians therefore have come in for a full harvest of rye, wheat and oats.

attacks in the evening we reconquered the positions held by the enemy.

"In the Caucasus we continue a vigorous pursuit of the enemy on our right wing. The enemy evacuated his positions near Alashgerd and retreated at Kussedaght."

Washington diplomatic red tape was still holding American warships in American harbors this afternoon despite an urgent appeal by Commander McNamee for ships. The reason given for this delay is that the peace plan for Mexico to be prepared by Secretary Lansing and the Latin-American diplomatic representatives might be endangered by any show of force at this moment.

DEATH HAS CLAIMED DAVID A. WASSON

WRITER - JOURNALIST PASSED AWAY YESTERDAY AT COLORADO SPRINGS, AGED 27

David A. Wasson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wasson of Kittery Point, passed away yesterday afternoon at his home in Colorado Springs, Colorado, following an operation on the mastoid bone, which caused meningitis. Mr. Wasson was born in West Medford, Mass., November 23, 1887, and removed to Kittery Point with his parents about a year later. He was educated in the public schools and the high school here in Portsmouth, and after his graduation entered the profession of journalism.

He was the marine correspondent in this section for several Boston and New York papers, and the representative of the Associated Press. He was also city editor on the Portsmouth Herald for some time.

Four years ago he moved to Colorado Springs with his wife, as his health became very poor. After leaving there he continued his work as a writer, contributing to many high-class publications, including the "Youth's Companion," the "Bellman," the "Outlook" and others. Lately he has been acting in the capacity of society editor on the Colorado Springs Sunday Gazette.

The body will be brought East for services and burial. He had a large circle of friends who will be pained to learn of his untimely death, and who extend their sympathies to his parents. He was a young man of marked ability and promise, a hard worker, accurate in his work and dependable. He is survived by his wife and both parents.

MINUTES IN MANHATTAN

New York, August 7—Those practical persons from Pittsburgh will bear watching. They aren't playing the baseball that would have won a pennant in years gone by. But this is 1915 when it seems highly probable that a 600 per cent national league club will grab the National League pennant.

The Pirates started slowly and poorly this year. It was mid year before they began playing the brand of ball of which they are capable. Since then they have been moving forward, slowly of course, but they have been moving. That's the main object and it begins to look as if the plodding team will be the ultimate victor in the National League.

In the fairly well known suburb of Brooklyn the natives no longer dream pennant dreams. Just before the Dodgers went west the natives were on the point of engaging world series tickets. That was at a time when the amazing spurt of the Brooklyn club had carried them to within a few points of the league leadership.

But all has changed. The uncouth westerners not only halted the Dodgers but beat them to a pulp. The Dodgers dropped five of the first six western games—and they're still dropping.

Bebbie (they'll come back—and maybe not).

The Phillies furnish another example of how those westerners treat strangers from the east. Pat Moran's Phillies, headed by the great Alexander, invaded the sunset section of this land, confident of adding to their lead. But they too have been wallowed.

Alexander was beaten in his first two starts. The Phillies seem to be in a batting slump and the defense has cricked at critical times, which creates the double-barreled question:

"Have the Phils gone down under the strain? or are they merely in a temporary slump? As Bill Shakespeare said, "Them's the questions."

Miserable box work on the part of Mathewson, Tesreau and Marquard—that explains to a large extent the failure of the Giants.

The three veterans were expected to win at least sixty per cent of the games in which they participated. But the grand winning percentage of all three is somewhere around 47.

When the three props of a ball club falter there is but little hope of saving the team from plunging through to the bottom of the league. The season is nearly over. Matty, Marquard and Tesreau haven't shown anything to date and there isn't much reason to feel that they will prove materially before October.

Matty won only five of his first 18 games, a percentage of 38. Last year at this time Matty was pitching for an average close to the 700 mark. Tesreau's percentage just now is under 500. A year ago it was over 600. Marquard is just at the 500 mark, which is a slight improvement over his work up to this time last year.

Charley Ebbels didn't think so very much of Pat Ragon. So he let the Irish man go to the Boston Braves. And now the winning pitcher of the Boston outfit is the very same Mr. Ragon who has won 15 out of 19 starts and shows no signs of slipping.

VALUABLE ADVICE

Portsmouth Citizens Should Profit By The Following Statement.

Donn's Kidney Pills were used by this Portsmouth resident.

Their merit was shown—the story told.

Now comes further evidence. The testimony is confirmed.

The remedy was tested—the results lasted.

Could Portsmouth residents demand stronger proof?

It's Portsmouth testimony. It can be investigated.

George S. Chandler, 420 Pleasant St., Portsmouth, says: "I do a great deal of walking in my work and in that way my kidneys became weakened, causing me much suffering. Donn's Kidney Pills cured me and I have had little kidney trouble since. I have recommended this medicine to many of my friends and in every instance where it has been tried, benefit has followed."

A Permanent Benefit.

More than five years later, Mr. Chandler said: "I can re-endorse Donn's Kidney Pills with pleasure for the cure they gave me has been lasting."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Donn's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Chandler has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HURL BACK TEUTONS IN NORTH

Petrograd, Aug. 9—The following official statement was issued at headquarters of the Russian general staff:

"In the direction of Riga we dislodged the enemy from the region between the Dyvna, the Ekau and the lower course of the An. Fighting continues as before, without any essential change, on the roads east of Poncevaz.

"Enemy attack on Kovno and Osowetz, which were repulsed on the 6th, were not renewed the following day. The enemy continues to deliver vigorous attacks from the Narow line along the whole front, great forces of the enemy being directed against the Lomza-Ostrow sector.

"On the right bank of the middle Vistula the day of the 7th passed without any engagements of importance. On the left bank of the Vleprz there have been obstinate rear guard actions. In the course of counter attacks we recaptured some hundreds of prisoners.

"Between the Vleprz and the Bug there has been no essential change.

"On the left bank of the Bug, between Tournia and Louga, we exercised pressure successfully on the enemy's advance guards along a wide front.

"There has been intermittent artillery firing at some points on the upper Bug, the Ziela Lipa and the Duclster."

AGAIN FAILED TO RECOVER BODY

CAPT. HALL AND MEN WORKED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON TO FIND WM. GUINEY'S BODY

Captain Hall of the Wood Island Coast Guard station and two men made another unsuccessful attempt yesterday afternoon to recover the body of William Guiney, who was drowned Sunday afternoon off the Wood Island bar while being towed into the harbor behind a motor boat.

Captain Hall and his men started the grappling at four o'clock Monday afternoon and continued the work for more than an hour. Although they have met with no success, they intend to make another attempt today, and will continue doing so until the end of the week unless the body is recovered before Saturday.

On account of the strong currents crossing the bar the work is extremely difficult, and it can be carried on only at slack water.

TO FORM NEW CAMPS OF ARMY OF PHILIPPINES

Lieut. Frederick Kessel, adjutant general of the Army of the Philippines, accompanied by members of Camp Lieut. Edward A. Bumpus, of Boston, and Camp Harry E. Stiles, of Lynn, will visit the principal cities of this state for the purpose of forming new camps.

Major Gen. Jacob H. Smith, commander-in-chief, has assured the committee on reunion that he will be present at the convention to be held in Boston on Sept. 13.

HAMPTON LIFE GUARD QUILTS

The volunteer life guards at Hampton Beach have given up work there because of lack of funds. The guards depend largely on popular subscription for their maintenance, but the revenue has been coming too slowly to justify their serving any longer. No arrangement has been made as yet to establish a new guard.

RECRUITS ARE READY FOR PLATTSBURG CAMP

New York, Aug. 9.—"The Business Men's Military Camp Special" will start from Grand Central Terminal for Plattsburg tonight at about the same time another special will leave Boston with the contingent from that vicinity. The camp will be organized tomorrow morning, and by noon most of the 1300 recruits will have donned the khaki and campaign hats of the regular army. Capt. Halsey Dorey, U. S. A., senior aid to Major General Leonard Wood, Commander of the Eastern Department, will be in command with a corps of subordinates, every one a graduate of West Point selected for unusual fitness. General Wood will spend much time at the camp, as will many other high officers of the army and the National Guard.

Bankers, lawyers, doctors, artists, merchants, brokers, policemen and clerks will be there, and among them Dudley Field Malone, Alderman H. H. Curran, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., William D. Straight, Hamilton Fish, Jr., Raymond Belmont, Police Captain Edward Hughes, Rhineland Waldo, the Blagden brothers, C. C. Ramsey, J. C. Fargo, T. W. Carnegie and Mayor Mitchell.

Traveling with the New Yorkers will be the Philadelphia and New Jersey contingents. From every state in the Union the recruits are coming, the largest delegation after New York, Boston and Philadelphia being those from Chicago and Pittsburgh. Nearly every polo player and steeplechase rider in the country will attend, also former stars of the gridiron, among them Percy Haughton, the Harvard coach, and Frank Butterworth, still remembered as the greatest Yale full-back.

Two big armored automobiles, each dragging a 3-inch field gun, started for Plattsburg from this city yesterday. The trucks, which are protected with steel armor, are said to be the very latest word. Ten other war automobiles will also go to Plattsburg, carrying machine guns, fourteen of which have been procured. Each of the two big trucks can carry fifteen thousand rounds of machine gun ammunition, five hundred one-pound shells and eight hundred rounds of 3-inch shrapnel.

Arrangements for the air service are being made and two machines and their pilots will probably be at the camp by the middle of the week.

The food will be the usual fare of the regular army, prepared by army cooks, eaten from unbreakable metal plates. As a regular officer put it: "This is not going to be an ice-cream and cake affair, but real army work." The Thirtieth U. S. Infantry, stationed at Plattsburg Barracks, will take part in the battle exercises that will be featured. The programme of instruction will be along the lines indicated in this memorandum of the army general staff.

Physical drill, marching, camping, tent pitching, making and breaking camp, signalling, loading and unloading wagons, camp expeditions, field cooking, camp sanitation, first aid to the injured, personal hygiene and the care of troops in the field will be taught by practice.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, Aug. 10.—"The greatest move which could be made toward universal peace would be the removal of diplomacy from foreign offices to control of legislative bodies and consequently indirectly to the control of the voters," was a statement made by F. W. Weinberger of Boston College on the Common, speaking on "Pan-American Conference and Peace" under the auspices of the Women's Peace party.

"European nations believe in secret diplomacy and are equally responsible for the war. Not until England had announced her participation in the war did the people of Great Britain know by what agreements and principles they were bound to France and Russia. Such diplomacy is undemocratic and savors of the autocracy of the Middle Ages. I think we are all agreed today, with but few dissenting voices, that peace is desirable. We lack less of glorification of war as a salutary force in human life. The two most significant events of recent times occurred on this, the peaceful side of the Atlantic. The first was the formation of the League to Enforce Peace. The doctrine of force contains this much of truth. No code of national law could be broken with impunity as the provisions of international law have been broken within the past year. The league seeks to induce the nations to set up an international power of enforcement of international law. The weapons to be used will be economic pressure, as well as military force, just as a city court administers monetary fines and physical compulsion. More important for the immediate future perhaps is the recent call of President Wilson for a Pan-American Conference to discuss the Mexican situation. By our forbearance during recent events, the United States proved that we are not seeking in Mexico's trial an opportunity to pursue our selfish advantage. Now by calling the other American republics to act with us we disarm suspicion in the hearts of our weaker neighbors."

A large number of Boston people went to Stratton, Vt., today to attend the dedication of a bronze marker at the place in Stratton where Daniel Webster, 75 years ago, addressed a Whig convention, which history has it, was the occasion of a gathering of 15,000 to hear the great orator. The historical address will be delivered by Hon. Frank E. Howe of Henningson, and the dedicatory address by James P. Taylor of Hurlington, president of the Green Mountain club. The tablet was erected by the Stratton Mountain club.

SINK TURKISH BATTLESHIP

Constantinople, Aug. 9.—The Turkish battleship Kheyr ed-Din Barbarossa, of 9000 tons displacement and formerly the German warship Kurfurst Friedrich Wilhelm, has been sunk by a submarine of the Entente powers, according to an official announcement issued today by the Turkish government.

REP. BUCHANAN IS INSISTENT

Washington, Aug. 9.—The White House today made public correspondence with Representative Buchanan of Illinois, who asked for a conference with President Wilson for labor's national peace council and, when it was refused, on the ground that the president had no time for other than international affairs, wrote Secretary Tamm that the refusal was "tantamount to a declaration that the president is more concerned about the desires of big business than he is to discover the heartfelt sympathy of the common people." Buchanan added that if he could not see the president he would issue an open letter to the American people.

Mr. Tamm wrote that he resented the tone of his letter and the "unwarranted inferences" drawn by the president's ability to see him.

"As far as I am concerned," wrote Secretary Tamm, "there is no objection to any statement you may desire to make public in this matter."

PORTSMOUTH SURE IS ON THE MAP

One war gave Portsmouth, New Hampshire, international fame, and now another war does the same for Cornish, New Hampshire. Monitor.

Cornish on the Map.—Manchester Mirror.

The Concord Monitor paragrapher evidently forgets that Portsmouth figured more or less in several wars other than the Russo-Japanese War. Just as a reminder, the Spanish prisoners, captured at Santiago, were held here at Camp Long until the end of the Spanish-American War in 1898. That war put Portsmouth on the map. The part taken by Portsmouth men and ships in the War of the Rebellion can be read in the histories. That war also put Portsmouth on the map. Then perhaps the Monitor man has forgotten all about the War of the Revolution and the first action of that war taking place being the capture of Port William and Mary. Then there were a few of the ships that were active in the War of 1812, built at the Portsmouth Navy Yard. Yes, Portsmouth has been more or less famous in several of the wars as well as having had one very successful Peace Conference—so very successful, in fact, that the two warring nations, Russia and Japan, may become allies in the present war before it is over.

PRESIDENT LOOKING UP SEAMEN'S LAW

Cornish, Aug. 9.—President Wilson disclosed today that he had been studying questions raised regarding the seamen's law, passed during the last session of Congress, but that he would reach no decision on whether any action is necessary until after his return to Washington.

The president was up early and played 18 holes of golf with Dr. Grayson. Afterwards he returned to the White House and began work on correspondence and reports from Washington on official business.

HIT BY CAR, LEFT TO DIE

Lynn, Aug. 9.—John Griffin of Fall River is dead at the Beverly hospital. Griffin, while walking on Dobson's hill, Ipswich, yesterday, was struck by an automobile. He was left in the road to die. The death car and its occupants fled.

Hours after he was struck Griffin was found unconscious by Lester Dwyer, Paul Kelly and William Kelly, who were passing in an auto. He was lying in a heap surrounded by broken glass, evidently from a windshield and auto lamps.

WON HIS GAME

Dave Sarette, former pitcher for the Reds, while the order was represented by a team in the Sunset League, pitched for the Franklin, N. H., team against Concord on Saturday last, and won his game. Concord was defeated by a score of six to three.

AUGUST 13 IS NATIONAL WOMAN'S JOURNAL DAY

Lucy Stone's Ninety-Seventh Birthday to Be Celebrated.

All over the country suffragists are planning to celebrate Lucy Stone's Birthday as National Woman's Journal Day.

Will all suffragists in Portsmouth and vicinity use that day to help towards the thousand new subscriptions east State is trying to get?

The paper keeps you in touch with the latest news of suffrage all over the country and no up-to-date worker can afford to be without it.

Lucy Stone, the founder, and mother of the present editor, Alice Stone Blackwell has helped make possible many of the privileges we women enjoy today. Let us show ourselves worthy of her efforts by helping thus to gain broader usefulness for all future women.

Subscriptions, one dollar, 585 Boylston St., Boston.

LARCENY CASE IS CONTINUED

Brunelle Held Till Saturday
Next for Further Hearing.

Albert Brunelle, arrested by the Haverhill police on Sunday for the larceny of an automobile from Arthur B. Valentine in this city on Saturday was before Judge Guptill in the municipal court today where he pleaded not guilty to the charge against him.

The owner of the machine was not in court and the police were unable to locate him during the day. Brunelle denied that he stole the auto and claimed that Valentine gave him permission to take the machine. This story does not appear likely to the police from the fact that Brunelle changed the car number at Hampton Beach and the cardboard figures were presented to the court as evidence.
Judge Guptill continued the case until Saturday, next, to give the police further time to hunt up the car owner.
Ball of $500 was ordered and up to noon Brunelle had been unable to acquire a bondsman. He claims to belong in Salisbury.

GREATEST ACT EVER SEEN IN NEW ENGLAND

THE SEVEN BRACKS AT THE PORTSMOUTH THEATRE PER-FORM WONDERFUL STUNTS

"The Seven Bracks" in their first appearance at the Portsmouth Theatre—and their first appearance in New England—yesterday, proved to be one of the finest acrobatic teams that the city has had an opportunity to witness. Their work was better than any that has been shown in vaudeville, bar none. It would be impossible to find a person who witnessed the act that could truthfully say that they had seen anything finer in their line.
The big audience at the theatre last evening were delighted and surprised at the marvelous stunts performed on the stage by these seven athletes.

Unlike most acts of this kind, they did not depend on a lot of silly comedy to "get by." The great work that they did was all that was necessary to convince the audience that they were "there" all the way. This number is easily the best that the city has seen.
It is an act from Europe, making a tour of America, and prior to their coming to Portsmouth, they played for some two or three months at the New York Hippodrome. There has not been an acrobatic act, big or little, that could compare with this of the Seven Bracks at any place in New England, no matter how far back you care to go.

The other two vaudeville numbers were also very strong. Miss Marie Laura made her initial appearance here yesterday and pleased with her wonderful singing. Her voice is big and shows the effects of fine training.
Her turn was well received and appreciated by the audience.

At and Bunny Fox in their number were clever. Their comedy was bright and their singing better than the usual run of double turns. The acrobatic dancing by Mr. Fox is perhaps among the best that has been staged in the Portsmouth theatres this season.

TERMS CASH

BUTLER & MARSHALL

AUCTIONEERS

They have a lawn party tonight.
That several from this city will attend.

That the church people at Dover say the bell-ringing on locomotives must be stopped while trains are at a stand still.

That the Curstone Quartet shine at Hampton Beach with their vocal gems.

That it was all right until they winked "I Didn't Raise My Boy to be a Soldier."

That the next time they pull that song the quartet will disband.

That people who are continually looking for trouble miss a lot of joy rides.

That there will be many new faces in the make-up of the city government of 1916 if all reports are true.

That it is likely that Dr. F. S. Ladd will again head the Democratic ticket.

That the water department is now charging water rates according to the new meters in some places.

That the saving of water so far since the installation of meters is astonishing.

That the damage on the Catholic church spire caused by lightning on Sunday will be repaired at once.

That a well known colored resident who suffers much from rheumatism told a doctor that he was simply a moving picture of pain.

That the P. A. C. and Elks' anniversaries are the next big local events on the calendar.

GRANGE FIELD DAY.

East Rockingham Pomona will hold its annual field day at Hedding camp grounds, Epping, on August 14. A demonstration of the improved method of canning fruit and vegetables will be given by Miss Sarah Bates of the extension department at Durham. One of the latest and most improved milking machines will be shown. There will be games and races. The afternoon program will consist of music, readings and addresses by speakers from the department of agriculture and the State grange, also an illustrated lecture on animal husbandry by Prof.
Roy B. Buehler of Durham.

The heaviest fighting since last spring is in progress in West Flanders.

GERMAN AIR RAID OVER EAST COAST OF ENGLAND

(Special to The Herald)

London, August 10—German Zeppelins raided the east coast of England
last night and early this morning.
Thirteen people were killed and twelve others wounded. Considerable damage was done by incendiary shells. One of the Zeppelins is reported to have been destroyed. A British aviator was killed in an aerial duel between British aeroplanes and the Zeppelins. News of the raid was officially announced by the government this afternoon.
